

Zen Palate

Description:

one of the only all-vegetarian restaurants that has food that i consider to be actually genuinely tasty versus "good enough" as compared to the real meat versions of the food. The wait staff has always been SUPER friendly to me and in some instances have even given me free dessert. I miss this place ten fold since I've moved out of new york, there is nothing vaguely comparable in boston. I've even taken my parents here who eat meat and they love it.  also on that note, they used to describe the food by calling it "wheat gluten with broccoli.. etc" and they now refer to it on the menu as the meat versions they are supposed to imitate, which for non-vegetarians is A LOT less stand offish. I Think of this as a positive.

Address Line 1: 477 Old Country Rd

Country: New York

City: Westbury

Zip: 11590

Website:

<http://www.yelp.com/biz/zen-palate-westbury>